

Laughter filled Dover Town Hall when 63 members and guests of Dover Ladies Luncheon Club competed in a quiz about parts of the body after their delicious three-course lunch.

A last-minute cancellation by the speaker could have proved a disaster but programme secretary, Avril Woolf, rose to the occasion with the brilliant idea of holding the quiz instead.

Many "alternative" answers brought tears to the eyes and most were deemed acceptable by Avril, who received a thunderous round of applause for her initiative.

Members had a collection for a local volunteer, Ian Leadbetter, doing the Brighton Marathon, which raised £95, which will go to Kelly Turner's Fund for her life-saving operation.

The club's next meeting is on Wednesday, March 29 with a guest speaker, talking about Royal parks and gardens.
